Experience Vipp

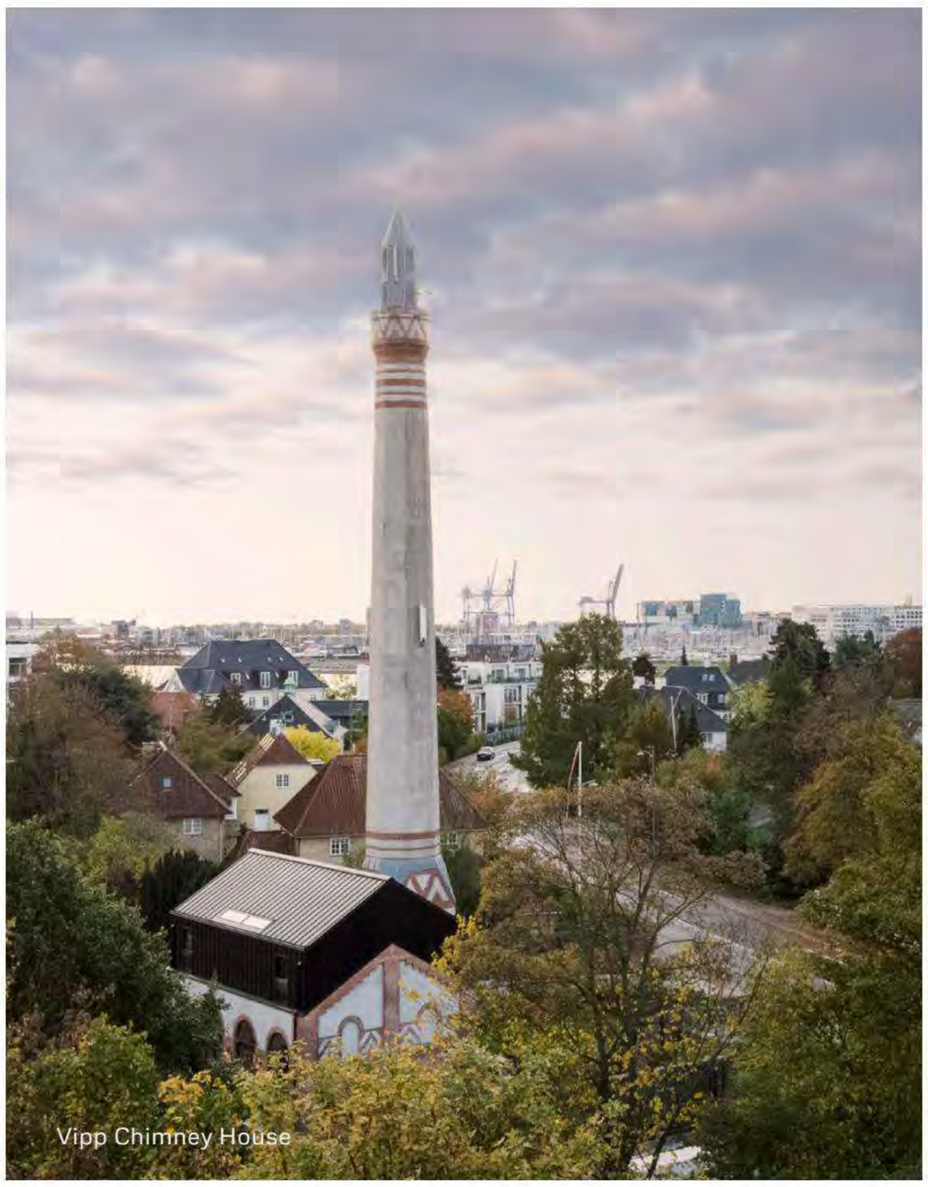
IN MY FATHER'S FOOTSTEPS. "Holger, I need a waste bin for my salon. Can you make me one?" These words mark the beginning of Vipp. The year is 1939 when young Danish craftsman, Holger Nielsen, makes the first Vipp bin in his metal workshop. The bin was a token of love for his wife Marie's hairdressing salon, never a business idea. But soon word gets around. After experiencing the sturdy, pedal-controlled bin, the ladies in the salon make sure that the bin finds its way into their husbands' dental and medical clinics. The request for more bins prompts Holger to start production on a larger scale. When Holger passes away in the beginning of the nineties, his daughter Jette inherits the bin and a metal workshop in the backyard of her childhood home in Randers, Jutland. She cannot bear to see her father's legacy vanish. For 50 years the bin has been a prerogative for the professional market, but Jette's dream is to cross the threshold to private homes and letting people experience the bin at home. Jette's two children, Kasper and Sofie, decide to join their mother in the quest of turning a bin into a brand. When the bin gets accepted into the permanent design and architecture collection at MoMA in New York, the family knows that they are on the right track. Since then, the classic Vipp pedal bin has been supplemented by a full-blown design universe of accessories, furniture, lighting, and complete kitchen systems.

Jette Egelund and her mother Marie, ca 1960

Deviating from a rigorous metal tradition, the Vipp design language has gotten a tactile treatment in the effort of shaping a design universe rich in materiality. Each new product enters the Vipp collection with the same ambition in mind – offering a refined, tactile experience with genuine design objects, timeless in both aesthetics and function. In other words, products with staying power.

Vipp Shelter in Sweden - the first Vipp hotel destination

Vipp Farmhouse



Vipp Chimney House

SPEND A NIGHT WITH VIPP. Vipp has upscaled the product experience by venturing into larger architecture and spatial design projects. Under the umbrella of Vipp Hotel a series of one-room wonders unfold and offer uniquely curated rooms at destinations out of the ordinary. Check-in and tune out in the Vipp Shelter on a Swedish lake, opt for farm-life feel in a converted Danish farmhouse from 1775, or admire the towering chimney in a rare, historic factory turned sophisticated sanctuary. With a growing portfolio of hotel destinations, guests are invited to experience Vipp in its natural habitat.

Chef Christian Puglisi hosts a supper club

A supper club at Vipp Garage

LESS VIP. MORE VIPP. A new sensory dimension has been added to the Vipp experience. Catering to eyes, ears, and tastebuds, the Vipp Supper Club is the social side of Vipp. People coming together in venues that are quite a mouthful in their own. We have sharpened the pencil and drawn up our first supper club destination in a former factory and a second venue hides behind the gates of a former auto garage. Both venues unveil a curious mix of food, art, design, architecture, and music. Talented chefs from around the world serve fabulous food on the plate and food for thought in the conversation.

"We have a strong opposition towards the many seasonal collections found in our industry. When we introduce new additions to our collection, they are here to stay."

— Kasper Egelund, CEO and 3rd generation Vipp owner

Curated collection

Vipp's in-house design team has developed a carefully curated collection of furniture where a tight edit of upholsteries are predefined and selected due their aesthetic and functional attributes. Material matters

Vipp furniture and lighting pieces often evolve from our architectural endeavours including the Vipp Hotel and supper club venues. Designing these venues has prompted our desire to develop a complete collection of furniture and lighting to inhabit these spaces. Through a tactile approach, a new, softer layer has been added to our trademark material through 80 years – steel. The journey towards a holistic design universe has softened up our palette, welcoming contrasting yet complementing materials to our industrial heritage such as textile, stone, ceramics, glass, and wood into our product development. Yet, our design ethos and processes hold the same refinement and attention to detail whether we shape metal or wood.

DINING ROOM

Chairs · Tables

A scratch on a wooden tabletop or patinated leather on the seat of a dining chair are all traces of daily use, manifested memories. When it comes to our dining room furniture, the ability to age gracefully is revealed by long-term use and defined by the surrounding environment. Shaped from solid materials, the Vipp dining room assortment is designed to withstand the test of time in both function and aesthetics. A dining table featuring a steel frame and a tabletop of either heat-pressed ceramics or dark oak, a slender yet sturdy steel-framed chair, and an additional series of solid oak and padded furniture, the Cabin- and Lodge series constitutes our take on long-lasting furniture fitted for the dining room.

KITCHEN

V1 kitchen · V2 kitchen · Ceramics

In our house, the party always starts and ends in the kitchen. For 10 years we have perfected our very first kitchen system, the V1, and the design principles of high-quality materials and functional detailing that laid the ground for V1 are now repeated in our second kitchen offering, the V2. V2 is a Vipp kitchen wrapped in Mother Nature's materials; dark oak sourced in Europe meets a grau-blau Jura limestone from the Bavarian Alps. While our first kitchen made in steel presented a raw and refined industrial design, the V2 is crafted in wood, stone, glass and metal adding a new organic tactility and materiality to Vipp's kitchen design. The party can begin.

V1 Kitchen

ONE DESIGN, FOUR MODULES

Our modular kitchen can be built from four different modules: island-, island with seating-, wall-, and tall module. Whether fitted for open-plan cooking, a classic workstation against the wall or for the need of maximum storage, each module can be composed of up to 10 units. The V1 kitchen is available in three powder-coated colour variants, black, grey and white, with a stainless steel worktop. All appliances are included.

V2 Kitchen

The V2 kitchen is the second kitchen system from Vipp. Bright Jura and dark oak meet in a new design language attuned to Mother Nature's material palette. While stone and oak signify a new material approach, you will recognize Vipp in the use of one of our trademark materials – extruded aluminium. Rounded aluminium profiles with reeded details serve as discreet, integrated drawer and cabinet grips. Apart from cabinet fronts covered in dark oak veneer, reeded glass and anodized aluminium doors apply a playful and refined design element to the V2 kitchen.
